

ENG 104 : Introduction to Creative Writing

Credits: 3

Class Hours: 3 lecture

Description:

This course is an introduction to the art of creative expression. Types of writing may include poetry, short stories, imaginative essays, and plays. The class offers opportunity for self-expression.

Semester Offered: Fall, Spring

Designation: Diversification: Arts – DA

Course Student Learning Outcomes (CSLOs):

1. Demonstrate proficiency in each stage of the writing process, including invention, creation, and revision.
2. Provide constructive feedback to peers as well as effectively respond to feedback.
3. Discuss and analyze the methods, devices, and stylistics of other writers in an effort to refine their own unique writing voice.
4. Apply concepts and techniques associated with specific genres of creative writing, which may include fiction, non-fiction, poetry, and drama.
5. Demonstrate an enhanced understanding and appreciation for the artistry of the written word.